Reading at home:

1. Exposure to Diverse Vocabulary: Reading at home exposes children to a wide range of vocabulary beyond what they encounter in everyday conversations.
2. Improving Concentration and Focus: Reading at home requires children to sit down, concentrate, and focus on the task at hand.
3. Strengthening Cognitive Skills: Reading is a cognitive exercise that stimulates various mental processes, including memory, problem-solving, and critical thinking.
4. Enhancing Imagination and Creativity: Reading at home exposes children to imaginative worlds, diverse characters, and creative storylines.
5. Cultivating a Lifelong Love of Learning: Reading at home fosters a positive attitude toward learning and discovery. When children associate reading with enjoyment and intellectual curiosity, they are more likely to develop a lifelong love of learning.

In conclusion, reading at home plays a vital role in the growth of children's ability to read by exposing them to diverse vocabulary, improving concentration and cognitive skills, enhancing imagination and creativity, and cultivating a lifelong passion for learning.

The Parts of a Parent Reader

A Smart Mind,
to understand
the importance of reading
with their child daily.

Eyes,
for seeing their child
and showing how
engaged they are.

Ears,
to listen to their child's questions.

A Mouth,
for reading books
to their child,
20 minutes
every day.

A heart,
to love and
desire a good education for their child.

Hands,
for hugging
their child
close while reading a favorite
book.

Books,
to share every day
with their child
to build their language and literacy.

Feet,
for walking to the
library each week to discover new books.

"There is more treasure in books than in all the pirate's loot on Treasure Island." – Walt Disney

- 1. Make books a part of family life – Always have books around at home. That way you and your children are ready to get reading, even if it's only for ten minutes.
- 2. Read about something they're interested in – Help your child find the right book for them. It doesn't matter if it's fiction, poetry, comic books or non-fiction.
- 3. All reading is good – Don't rule out non-fiction, comics, graphic novels, magazines or leaflets. Reading is reading and it's all worthwhile.
- 4. Get comfortable! – Snuggle up together somewhere warm and cosy, whether it's in bed, on a beanbag or on the sofa. And make sure your child has somewhere comfy to read on their own too.
- 5. Ask questions – To keep them interested in the story, ask your child questions as you read. Start with 'Where did we get to last time?', 'Can you remember what's happened so far?' and 'What do you think will happen next?'.
- 6. Read whenever you get the chance – Have a book or magazine with you for any time your child has to wait, like at the doctor's or the dentist.
- 7. Read favourites again and again – Encourage your child to re-read the books and poems they love. Re-reading helps to build fluency and confidence.
- 8. Enjoy bedtime stories – Read with your children at bedtime as often as you can. It's a great way to end the day and to spend valuable time with them.
- 9. Make the most of rhyme and repetition – Books and poems with rhymes and repeated words or phrases are great for getting your kids to join in and remember the words.

MyOn and Accelerated Reader

Children should all have access to this at home through devices such as laptops or iPads. It will work on a phone but it is not the same as a large screen. If you do not have a device at home, maybe you should look at the school loan agreement (available from the office). They can then read or listen to books at home in their own time. They can also take a quiz afterwards and this will go towards their word count. MyOn has a range of books for all ages and if you have younger children at home then they can join in as well.

The image displays the myON website interface. At the top left, the logo reads "RENAISSANCE myON". To the right, there is a "Login" button. Below the logo, a photograph shows a young girl smiling while reading a book on a tablet. Overlaid on the right side of the page is a login form with the following fields: "School Name" (with "Renaissance School" entered), "Username" (with "Required" as a placeholder), and "Password" (with "Required" as a placeholder). A green "Sign In" button is located below the password field. Below the login form, a navigation bar includes "myON", "Library", and "Profile" buttons. The main content area features a "Top Picks" section with a grid of book covers, including titles like "Hugoboss", "Moose", "Trucks", and "If All the Animals Came to the Zoo".

Recording your reading

This record should be completed every day at home by the children. The children have been shown by teachers how to fill the record out properly so all you need to do is check. Of course, parents are more than welcome to record in the book, or ask their child to write what they want, and we encourage that two-way conversation. Staff will check the reading recordings so if you feel the book is too easy or too hard then say. We are also happy for you to just sign to say you have seen them read or read with them. Teachers will also comment on the books so please look out for those messages. When the teachers check the records, which we do weekly, we are looking for 5 recordings of reading at home. This then means the child will receive a star which is added to their star chart. When they have 15 stars they will get a book prize.

Reading with your children

What is the story about?

Who are the main characters?

What is your favorite part of the book so far?

Can you predict what might happen next?

How would you feel if you were the main character?

What is the lesson or moral of the story?

Are there any words or phrases you didn't understand?

If you were the author, how would you end the story differently?

Which character do you relate to the most and why?

What did you learn from this book?

These questions are designed to not only assess comprehension but also to stimulate thoughtful conversations and enhance the overall reading experience for both parent and child.
